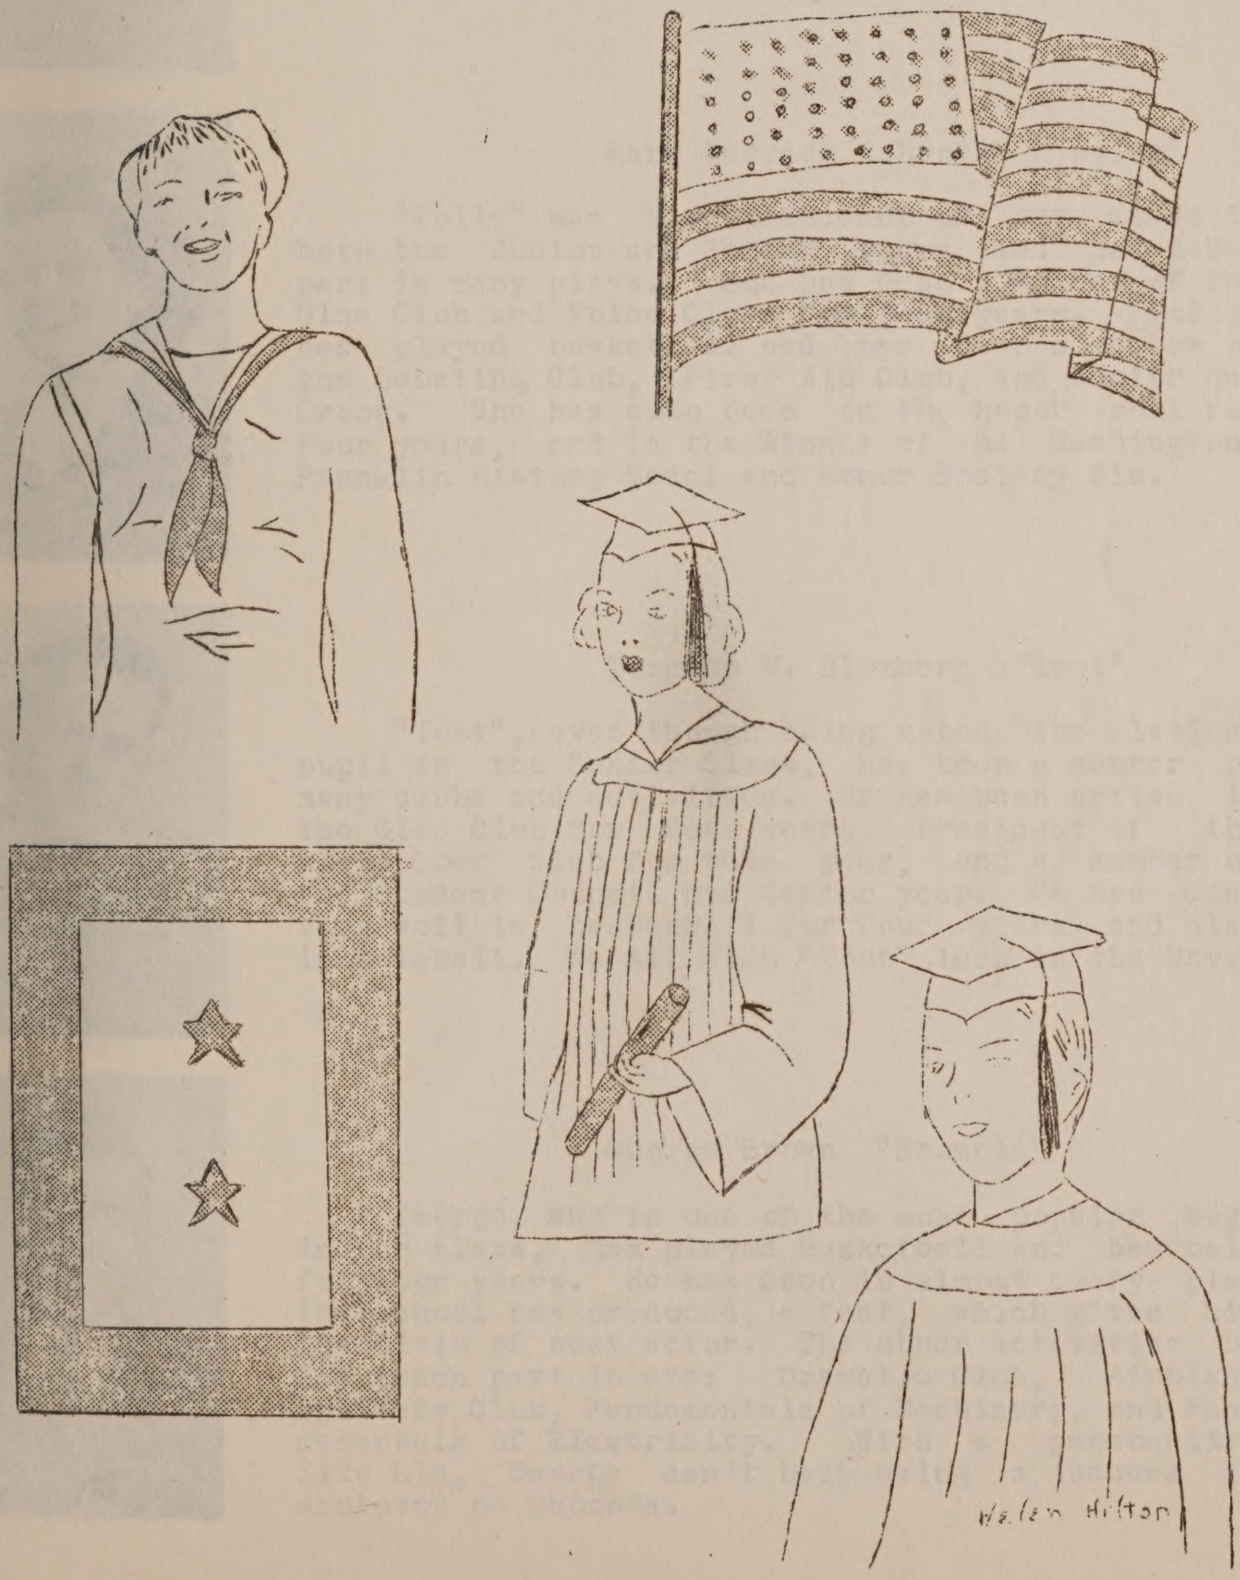
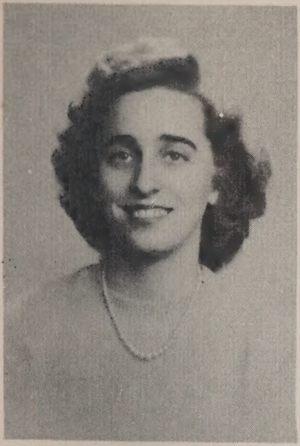
SENIOR CLASS

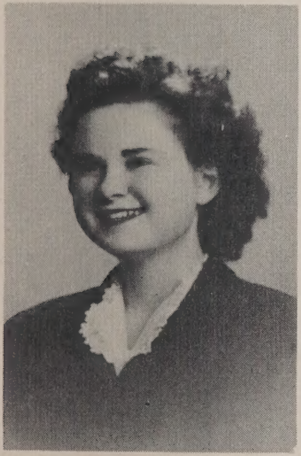


Helen Hilton



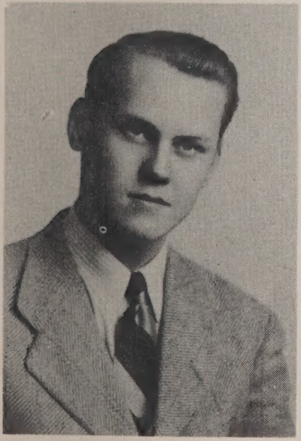
Martha Allen

Martha has been a member of the Girls' Voice Class for four years and the Glee Club for two years. She was also a member of Red Cross Club and Alumni Editor of the school paper for this year. She is always volunteering to do something for someone. Because of this and her other good characteristics, it is apparent to see that she will be a success in life. Martha wants to be a Laboratory Technician.



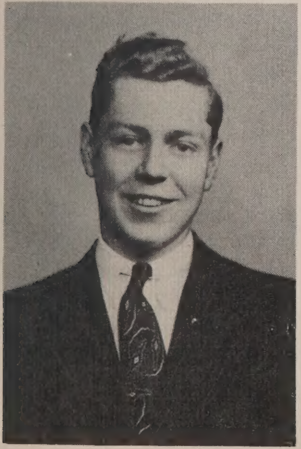
Mary Herrick Ashworth "Polly"

"Polly" was vice-president of our class in both the Junior and Senior years and has taken part in many plays. She has been a member of the Glee Club and Voice Class for four years. "Polly" has played basketball and has been a member of the Debating Club, First Aid Club, and Junior Red Cross. She has also been on the honor roll for four years, and is the Winner of the Washington, Franklin History Medal and Honor Society Pin.



Torsten N. Blomberg "Toot"

"Toot", even though being voted the laziest pupil in the Senior Class, has been a member of many clubs and activities. He has been active in the Glee Club for four years, President of the Radio Code Club for this year, and a member of the Student Council his Senior year. He has done very well in basketball for four years and also in baseball. We all wish "Toot" luck in the Navy.



George Brown "Brownie"

George, who is one of the most popular boys in our class, has played basketball and baseball for four years. He has been in almost every play the school has produced, a fact, which gives him the title of best actor. The other activities he has taken part in are: Dramatic Club, Airplane Spotters Club, Fundamentals of Machinery, and Fundamentals of Electricity. With a personality like his, George can't help being a success at whatever he chooses.

Ruth Caroline Brown "Ruthie"

"Ruthie" was chosen as the Senior girl who is the most representative of Blue and White, and no wonder. She has been in the Orchestra for three years, Voice Class and Glee Club for four years. She has also been a member of the following: Pre-Driver's Club, Red Cross Club, Dramatic Club, basketball, four years; and has taken part in all prize speaking and play contests, and had the leading role in our Senior play. "Ruthie" has been on the honor roll for four years and had highest honors for one year. She was also chosen as D.A.R. Pilgrim and a graduation speaker. She will be a very pleasant nurse.

Doris Alice Cody "Dot"

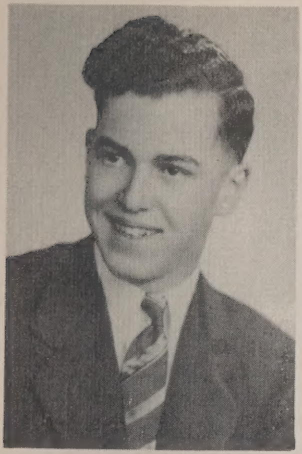
"Dot", who is our quietest girl, has long curly brown hair and hazel eyes. Yes, she was voted the prettiest girl of the senior class. She has been a member of the Glee Club for one year and the voice class for two years. She has also been a member of the Red Cross, Pre-Driver's Club, Good Writer's Club, and was treasurer of the Senior class this year. "Dot" is so sweet and efficient, that we know she will be a success as a typist.

Theresa Courcy "Terry"

"Terry", who was voted our best girl dancer, has gained many friends throughout her school years, and we know that she will gain many more. She has been a member of Voice Class and Glee Club. "Terry" has also taken an active part in basketball throughout her high school years. Her great ambition is to become a hair dresser. Good luck, "Terry".

Vivian Myrtle Dodge "Vi"

Vivian joined our class in October of our Senior year. She is a very quiet person, who has been a member of the Glee Club, Voice Class, and Red Cross Knitting Club. Her ambition will bring her success in her chosen work. We wish you luck as a beautician, "Vi".



Ralph A. Eastman

Tall, dark, and handsome are adjectives that describe our best looking boy. Ralph has played basketball and baseball for two years very successfully. He was the doctor in our Senior play and has taken part in all play contests. He has also been a member of a number of clubs. Ralph is joining the service soon, and we know that he will make a handsome captain.

Nancy O. Ferguson "Fergie"

Neatly dressed, hair always arranged nicely, and a pleasant disposition, are characteristics that well describe "Fergie". She was a member of the Girls' Voice Class for four years, Glee Club for three years, Red Cross, Pre-Driver's Club, and played an active part in basketball for four years. Nancy did her part in the annual Senior play, very well. She wants to be a dietician some day. We wish you luck, "Fergie."

Anne Frances Grimwade

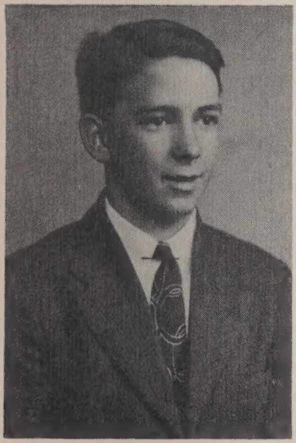
Anne has been chosen as a graduation speaker. She has been a member of the following: Girls' Voice Class and Glee Club, four years; basketball four years; Red Cross, and on the honor roll for three years. She has also taken part in all play contests, prize speaking, and the Senior play. Anne was secretary of the Student Council in her Senior year, Co-editor of the school paper, for one year, and assistant for two years. We wish you luck in college, Anne.

Mildred C. Mahan "Millie"

"Millie" is a very efficient Commercial student, who has been on the honor roll many times. "Millie" has been a member of Girls' Voice Class for four years, and Glee Club for three years. She was also a member of Red Cross and the High School Orchestra for two years. She was also Treasurer of Student Council this year. "Millie" will become a success in whatever she undertakes because of her fine work in school. She plans to join the WAVES, and after the war, be an office worker.

Lillian M. McKissick "Lill"

"Lill" was a member of the Girls' Voice Class for four years .and Glee Club for three years. She was also a member of Red Cross. "Lill" wants to become a secretary, and because of her pleasing personality, dependability, and willingness to do anything for others, we are sure that she will be a very satisfactory secretary.



Richard Morrison "Dickie"

"Dickie", who is our Comedian, always has an answer for everything. He's never serious for a moment. "Dickie" was a member of the Glee Club. He also played his part in the Senior play very well as he was a hen-pecked husband. He was voted most agreeable, so we know he will be well liked by everyone with whom he comes in contact in the future.

Buell Phillips

Buell was one of our classmates who, in March of this year, answered the call to the colors by joining the Coast Guard. We are all very proud of him, but we lost a great debater and athlete. He played an active part in basketball and track. Buell was also in many play contests, prize speaking contests, Glee Club, and many other clubs. He will become a success in the Coast Guard because of his persistence and determination to succeed.

Muriel Robidoux "Myrt"

"Myrt", who is our best actress, and most popular girl, has been a member of Glee Club for four years, Voice Class, four years; and a number of other clubs. She is a very good basketball player. "Myrt" wants to become a Dental Hygienist. We know she will make an excellent one, and that the dentist, for whom she works, will have many patients.

Evelyn Marie Shea "Evie"

Tall, slim, and attractive are adjectives that well describe "Evie". She was treasurer of the Red Cross Club in her Sophomore year and President in her Junior and Senior years. She showed her ability to act in the Senior play and in two play contests. "Evie" has been lunch counter manager for two years, and her ambition is to become a dietician.

Jessie M. Sinclair "Jess"

"Jess" was voted the best dressed girl of the Senior class, and no wonder for she is always dressed neatly and matches the color of her clothing very well. She has taken part in the following: Voice Class, four years; Glee Club, three years, and Red Cross and Good Writer's Club. "Jess" wants to study fashion designing. We know that she will be successful because of her own personal choice of clothing. Our best wishes are with you, "Jess".

Richard Allen Taylor "Dickie"

"Dickie" is very popular with the girls. Perhaps it's because he is a high scorer on the basketball floor and perhaps it's because he is tall, has light hair, has brown eyes, and is full of fun. He joined the Coast Guard in March, and we have all missed him very much. "Dickie" has been chosen boy most representative of the Blue and White and has the honor of being a graduation speaker. He has also been on the honor roll for two years.

Dorothy Tito "Dotty"

"Dotty" always has a big mischievous smile for you. She is a graduation speaker. The activities that she has taken part in are:Voice Class, Glee Club, First Aid Club, Sewing Club,and Junior Red Cross Club. She has also debated and taken part in the Play Contests. We are confident "Dotty" will be a success as a doctor.

Barbara Ruth Warren "Shorty" or "Babs"

Agreeable, reliable, and full of fun are characteristics that well describe "Shorty". She is only four feet, 11½ inches tall. She has been a member of the Girls' Voice Class for four years, Glee Club for three years, Camera Club, and Red Cross. She has also taken part in all the play contests, was president of the Senior class, Vice-President of Student Council, active in basketball and has been on the honor roll several times. "Shorty" will make a pleasant nurse and will keep her patients happy because of her jollity.

CLASS HISTORY

Chapter I

In 1939, the class of '45 entered Charlton High School. We looked forward to six years of work and play---we got plenty of both! The total enrollment was fifty-one students, twenty-six girls and twenty-five boys, and we progressed under the guidance of Miss Manzi and leadership of Ruth Brown, as our president. The other officers were: Vice-President, Anne Grimwade; Secretary, Ralph Eastman; and Treasurer, Richard Taylor.

We presented our first play in the Junior Play Contest entitled, "The District Contest". Those who took part in the one-act comedy were as follows: Ruth Brown, Anne Grimwade, Shirley Greenhalge, George Brown, and Willis Bond. Although we did not win, we helped to put on a good entertainment. We were proud to have George Brown represent us in the Dramatic Club play, "Young Lincoln", this year.

Chapter II

We started our second year at the high school, under the supervision of Mrs. Madaus and once again with Ruth Brown as our efficient leader. Other officers were as follows: Vice-President, Anne Grimwade; Secretary, Mary Ashworth; and Treasurer, Richard Taylor. Our total enrollment this year was fifty-three pupils.

The play we presented this year was "Herbie and the Mumps"; and those who took part in it were Anne Grimwade, Ruth Brown, Shirley Greenhalge, George Brown, Ralph Eastman, and Willis Bond. It was a grand performance, and we are proud to say we won the cup and a sum of money.

Those pupils who tried out for prize speaking were Anne Grimwade, Mary Ashworth, and Dorothy Tite. They did not enter the contest, but they didn't give up hope, and said that they would try again later.

As the year progressed, our class decreased considerably; and we found ourselves with just forty-one pupils. Although we lost quite a few students, we also gained three new ones. We were glad to welcome Barbara and Robert Warren, who proved to be assets to our class with the talent of art, which they both possessed. Koji Kuroiwa was another new member, who became a friend to all of us shortly after his arrival.

Another year had come to the end; and, of course, each one of us looked forward to our summer vacation, but we were rather anxious to start the next year, which was our first year of high school.

Chapter III

In 1941, we resumed our studies, as "one big happy family", as our advisor, Mr. Madaus called us. Our officers this year were as follows: President, George Brown; Vice-President, Anne Grimwade; Secretary, Ruth Brown; and Treasurer, Richard Taylor.

Our class had now diminished to thirty-seven, after many moved to different towns, and several left to go to trade school.

The play we presented this year for the play contest was "Jeanne D'Arc". Those who helped to make the performance a great success were Evelyn Shea, Ruth Brown, Anne Grimwade, Mary Ashworth, George Brown, and Muriel Robidoux. We won the cup for the second time and we agreed that the first time was partly luck, but this time our success was due to the fact that we were the oldest group and had more experience. We were also very proud to have George Brown represent us in the Dramatic Club Play, "Sadie of the U.S.A."

Many of the girls and boys participated in basketball this year. The girls who represented us were Mary Ashworth, Anne Grimwade, Ruth Brown, Irene Dow, Elizabeth Trifone, Ida Ianiccheri, Mildred Mahan, and Muriel Robidoux. The boys were Richard Taylor, Koji Kuroiwa, Torsten Blomberg, George Brown, and Buell Phillips.

Mary Ashworth won second prize in the Prize Speaking Contest this year with the humorous selection, "Dumb Dora". When our Freshmen year finally came to an end, we were still "one big happy family".

Chapter IV

We now come to the half way mark, with three years at Charlton High School behind us, and three more years before us.

We began with an enrollment of thirty-one pupils, with Mrs. Fiske as our supervisor and Muriel Robidoux as our president; Dorothy Tite as Vice-President; Barbara Warren as Secretary; and Ralph Eastman as Treasurer.

"I Pledge Allegiance" was the play which we presented at the annual play contest. It was not the winning play, but our cast, which included Dorothy Tite, Anne Grimwade, Ruth Brown, Richard Taylor, Buell Phillips, George Brown, and Muriel Robidoux, did their best to make it a good performance.

We were well represented in both boys' and girls' basketball and we were proud to say that the girls won the cup for class basketball.

In the essay contest for "Schools at War" program, Anne Grimwade won first prize on her essay, "Autobiography of a War Stamp", and Dorothy Tite won second prize, on her essay, "The Glory of Democracy".

The number of pupils in the Class of '45 to this date is twenty-nine, as we had lost more as the year progressed.

Chapter V

When we entered the Junior class in 1943, our group had dwindled down to twenty-two students. We had lost quite a few when one stops to realize that when we entered the high school, the enrollment was fifty-one. In spite of this fact, we who are left are still "plugging along".

Our efficient and well liked supervisor this year was Mrs. Hammond, and Ralph Eastman supported us as our president. The other officers were: Vice-President, Mary Ashworth; Secretary, Richard Taylor; and Treasurer, George Brown.

The class presented the play entitled, "Hold Everything", at the play contest. The pupils who participated in it were Mary Ashworth, Anne Grimwade, Ruth Brown, Ralph Eastman, George Brown, Richard Taylor, Buell Phillips, and Muriel Robidoux. It was a great success, and we are proud to say that we won the cup again for the third time.

The girls and boys were well represented on the basketball teams and again the girls were "champs" and the boys came out on top also.

Those who participated in the Prize Speaking Contest were Anne Grimwade, Ruth Brown, Buell Phillips, and Muriel Robidoux. Ruth Brown won second prize in the Oratorical division, Muriel Robidoux received first prize in the Dramatical division, with Anne Grimwade right behind, taking second prize. Each one went to the District Meet in Shrewsbury, but Ruth Brown was the only one who placed there in the finals.

Thus, ends another year at Charlton High. We looked forward to becoming Seniors, but we also regretted that it would be our last year at the high school.

Chapter VI

September 1944 has finally come, with just ten months before graduation. At the beginning of the year there were twenty-two pupils in our class but we were sorry to see William Hilton leave us to join the Navy, making just twenty-one, until Vivian Dodge stepped in to take his place. You can rest assured that she was more than welcome.

Our jolly and friendly supervisor this year was Mr. Berube. The officers were as follows: Barbara Warren, President; Mary Ashworth, Vice-President; Dorothy Tite, Secretary; and Doris Cody, Treasurer.

The play which we presented this year was "The Tiger's Claw", and those who took part in it were Ruth Brown, Anne Grimwade, Mary Ashworth, George Brown, Ralph Eastman, Richard Taylor, Barbara Warren, Buell Phillips, and Muriel Robidoux. The cast provided good entertainment, but we bowed to the Juniors who won the cup.

Many of the boys and girls participated in basketball again this year; in fact, the senior boys made up practically all of the first team. Both the boys and the girls won the class basketball cup again this season. Although the girls didn't have any competition from the other classes, the cup was forfeited to them because they won it the two preceding years.

Our class went on our trip early in March this year instead of June since we wanted to go before Richard Taylor and Buell Phillips went into the service. They left the following week, leaving us with just nineteen pupils. Of course, now the class is practically ruled by the girls, with only four boys against fifteen of the opposite sex. But don't be mistaken, we get along very well and are still the "big happy family" we were when we left Mr. Madaus's class.

The Senior play, which we presented was "Lavender and Old Lace". It was a grand success and a Junior boy, Robert Bullard, helped us to make it so, since there weren't enough boys left in the class after Richard Taylor and Buell Phillips left. Those who took part in it were as follows: Evelyn Shea, Mary Ashworth, Ruth Brown, Anne Grimwade, Nancy Ferguson, George Brown, Richard Morrison, Ralph Eastman, Robert Bullard, and Muriel Robidoux.

Those who have been on the honor roll for four years are Ruth Brown, Mary Ashworth, Dorothy Tite, and Mildred Mahan; three years, Anne Grimwade; two years, Richard Taylor; one year, George Brown and Muriel Robidoux.

Thus, we have come to the end of six short years at Charlton High School; and with heavy hearts, we bid adieu to our teachers, schoolmates, and the classmates we leave who will of course be going in various directions, but wherever we go and whatever we may do, you may rest assured that fond memories of dear Charlton High will always follow us.

CLASS — PROPHECY

I, Martha Allen, have finally attained my greatest ambition. I am a supervisor of all laboratory technicians, in Washington, D.C.

It is now 1952. Seven short years have passed since I was graduated from Charlton High School. It is a delightful fall morning, as I observe through my office window, and as my mind departs from my work, I walk over to the window, and gaze upon the busy street below. Immediately, as I hear paper boys shouting, I am reminded of an old classmate, Richard Morrison, who is now the managing editor of the Washington newspaper, the "Star". Richard has gone far in the last seven years, and hopes to own his own newspaper business soon.

I lean back against the files, and can't help remembering all the grand times we had in school, of Ralph Eastman and George Brown with their card tricks. Now Ralph and George are miles apart. George is a salesman for the "Home Folks" Magazine Company in Chicago, and Ralph is in business for himself in Oregon, selling "Eastman's Super-Duper Radios." Both are very successful.

Again I gaze down upon the active business section, and I see in front of a large building--a long line of women and children, I stare--and people come and go--those leaving, seem to be relieved, and minds free from worry. Later, I learned that two of my classmates are woman specialists. They are none other than Ruth Brown and Barbara Warren. Ruth and Barbara trained together in New York and were given an opportunity to use their talents in Washington, where thousands come to them for advice.

My memories are interrupted for a moment, by the ringing of the telephone. I answered it immediately, and, to my great surprise, Jessie Sinclair is calling me from New Jersey. I hadn't seen Jessie since our parting at Charlton High School; she is now a journalist for the "Trenton Tribune". She plans to come to Washington for a vacation.

Again I walk to the window, and my eyes are attracted by a sign on the side of the building, across from where I have my office--the sign reads--"Muriel's Dancing School." Muriel Robidoux has had a grand business, and has several schools in the Eastern part of this country.

After work, I start for my apartment and on the street corner, I stop to buy a paper; on the front page is flashed, "Makes Good." The picture looks familiar--sure enough, it's Torsten Blomberg. Torsten has been in the Navy since his graduation from high school, and has just been presented with the rank of Captain. Torsten has traveled far since he left Charlton; and he is now stationed in Washington with the Navy Department.

As I near my distination, I decide to dine out, and to my astonishment, I find Vivian Dodge, a hostess in one of the largest restaurants in Washington; as I enter, I hear some one singing--I then see a tall, slim blonde, dressed in a black gown.

After being seated, I realize that it is an old classmate of mine, Evelyn Shea.

After finishing my meal, I decidedto go back stage to see her, and whom should I see there, but Theresa Courcy. "Terry" has been directing an orchestra for almost three years, and has toured the country, making several stops on Broadway. As I leave my two classmates, I journey homeward. Upon arrival there, I am told that I had two visitors in the afternoon, and that they would be back in the evening--to my great and happy surprise, it was Mildred Mahan and Nancy Ferguson. Mildred is now a private secretary for the president of the Chicago Trust Company, and is in Washington on business; and Nancy is chief dietician at the Hotel Greenier, in West Virginia. She came to Washington on a new business venture and met Mildred at the train terminal.

We talk of "old times" and I learn that Doris Cody and Lillian McKissick have been working for a large industrial concern in New York, for quite sometime. Doris is assistant office manager, and keeps many books and files in order for her employer. Lillian has charge of all the ordering, shipping, and selling in the concern and takes great pride in her work.

After talking for sometime, I turn on my television set, and am stunned when I see Buell Phillips boxing at Madison Square Garden. Buell, now lives in the Bronx and holds the heavy weight championship; Buell has not been the only one who had gone to New York and prospered--for Anne Grimwade is a social worker in the Bronx area, also. She has been advisor to all social gatherings and was awarded a scholarship to continue her education in France.

The following day, as I am walking to work, I hear some one call me by name, I turn and have an odd and joyous meeting with Polly Ashworth. As we talk, she tells me how she has become an undertaker. This bewilders me, but it's true. Yes, Polly has become an undertaker. She tells me, that she has seen Dorothy Tite, a few weeks before. "Dot" is now a doctor at the Colorado Springs Hospital.

After we chat for a while; I feel sorry that I have to leave, but getting to work on time is important; so with a hasty good-by; we separate.

Upon entering my office, I can't help thinking of Richard Taylor, as my desk looks as his did, back at C. H. S. I had often wondered where and what Richard was doing, and at last I have found my answer--Richard is now the manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers and is happily married.

Once again I hear the clicking of typewriter keys, and I realize that I have spent one happy day with some of the members of the Class of '45.

WELCOME ADDRESS

As president of the class of 1945, it gives me great pleasure to extend a most cordial welcome to our faculty, parents, and friends.

Time has carried us to the end of another phase of life. As we pause today, upon the dividing ground between two eras in our lives and look back over the varied experiences of our high school life with its buoyancies and its pleasures, its rivalries and ambitions, its duties and generous friendships, we can not avoid a feeling of sadness that comes with the thought of parting. But the hours of the present are golden, and the recollection of the happy days that we have spent together will ever brighten our pathway as we press on confidently and hopefully into the future, remembering that our equipment is good and our purpose is strong.

Barbara Warren

CHARGE TO THE JUNIORS

As we, the class of 1945, depart from Charlton High School, we leave the present Junior class a great deal of responsibility and also a little advice. We sincerely hope that you, the Juniors, will avoid all pitfalls along the way, and strive to be successful in everything you undertake. You will be the oldest group in the school, and will, therefore, set the standards and high ideals for which your class will be remembered. Always remember that your teachers are your friends, and will help you to surmount obstacles, which may impede your progress.

As president of the Senior class, I present the key of responsibility to the president of the Class of 1946, Reed Grimwade.

THE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF 1945

After four full years of hard work and pleasant associations, we, the class of 1945, realizing that the time is drawing near when we shall end the happy days that we have spent at the Charlton High School, do now make known to all, our last Will and Testament:

I, Martha Allen, leave my blond hair to Linda Kuroiwa.

I, Mary Ashworth, leave my sunny disposition to Evelyn Gates.

I, Torsten Blomberg, leave my ability to "bluff" to Richard Mushroe.

I, George Brown, leave my "Jive" to Donald Dufault.

I, Ruth Brown, leave my ability to type to Robert Nelson.

I, Doris Cody, leave my ability to blush to Shirley Goldinger.

I, Theresa Courcy, leave my ability to ring bells incorrectly to Evna Cook.

I, Vivian Dodge, leave my brown eyes to George Cody.

I, Ralph Eastman, leave my curly, well combed hair to the Morang boys.

I, Nancy Ferguson, leave my calm temper to Raymond Ashe.

I, Anne Grimwade, leave my slim figure to Cecile Garry.

I, Mildred Mahan, leave my hearty laugh to Mickey Kuroiwa.

I, Lillian McKissick, leave my ability to type stencils to Virginia Erskine.

I, Richard Morrison, leave my "wise cracks" to Robert Lafler.

I, Buell Phillips, leave my innocence to Evelyn Robidoux.

I, Muriel Robidoux, leave my ability to "shoot baskets" to Phyllis Wolfenden.

I, Evelyn Shea, leave my light complexion to Richard Kelly.

I, Jessie Sinclair, leave my fondness for blonds to Betty Perks.

I, Richard Taylor, leave my mischievousness to John Lacerte.

I, Dorothy Tite, leave my debating ability to Lorraine Burns.

I, Barbara Warren, leave my height to Jeanne Farr.

To the Juniors, we leave our unblemished record for the future.

To the Sophomores, we leave the hope that they will consider their motto, "Wise fool", and remember that, in spite of all worries, school days are really wonderful.

To the Freshmen, we leave our desire that they use the class of 1945 as a pattern to guarantee their lasting success.

To the teachers, we leave our thanks for their patience and consideration.

This Will was Written all in fun,
No serious offense was meant for anyone.

Nancy Ferguson,

Class Song for Graduation
Words by Barbara Warren
Tune: "Just a Prayer Away"

We now leave dear Charlton High
For a life that's just begun,
We will always work and strive
To please each and everyone,
We will always remember the days when we Shared our happiest moments with you,
When we thus succeed,
We shall then recall
It was you who helped us through,
We now leave dear Charlton High
And extend a fond good-bye.

II

Now to all we say good-bye,
To our friends and teachers too,
For your work we give our thanks
And extend our gratitude,
We will always remember the carefree days
That we always have spent with you,
You shall guide our ways;
And in future days,
We shall honor and be proud of you,
We now leave dear Charlton High
And extend a fond good-bye.

WAR BONDS AND STAMPS

Charlton High School has helped in the War Effort by selling War Bonds and Stamps. The school set its goal for $12,000, and this money is to buy a L.C.V.P. Landing Craft. The school has $7,361.40 at present and hopes to reach its goal by the end of the year.

The school children have done quite well in helping to get this money from the townspeople.

When the school has 90% or over for a month, it has the privilege of flying the Minute Man Flag. In order to get 90%, each student in the school must buy one 10¢ defense stamp in the month. We are not very proud to say that we were not able to fly the Minute Man Flag during every month in our school year. However, we could fly it a few months. The sophomore and junior classes deserve a great deal of praise for receiving 100% every month in the school year. That is a record of which to be proud.

The school has a total of 61% buying stamps and bonds to date and hopes to reach 100% by the end of the year.

Ruth Brown, Co-Editor-in-Chief

CLUBS PARTICIPATION IN THE WAR EFFORT

The clubs in Charlton High School have all been converted to help in the War Effort.

The girls and boys have special clubs. The girls, who belong to the Red Cross Clubs, are knitting squares for afghans and are packing boxes for the Red Cross. They send delegates to the Red Cross meetings in Worcester to get ideas for this group.

Another branch of the Red Cross Club is the Toy Club in which the girls stuff animals and dolls for the Red Cross.

The Pre-Drivers Club is not a part of the Red Cross group. The Pre-Drivers Club teaches the students the proper way to drive and the laws of the highways. The students are to take a test on May 24, which involves the rules of driving, and if they pass, they will receive a certificate, which they will use when they get their license to drive a car. This club teaches the pupils safety on the road, and this should lower the number of future accidents.

These clubs involve the girls, but there are also clubs for the boys. One club is the Fundamentals of Electricity, which teaches the boys all the facts of electricity. Another club is the Automotive Club, which deals with the machinery in a car. They learn all about the car, and the use of its parts. The Radio Code Club teaches the boys the Morse Code, which will help them in the future if they go into the service.

All these clubs have helped the pupils to adapt themselves to the things they might face in the future.

PAGEANT TO PROMOTE SALES OF WAR BONDS AND STAMPS

On May 18th in the town hall, we sponsored a pageant to promote the sales of War Bonds and Stamps. Each adult bought at least one $.50 stamp, and each child bought at least one $.25 defense stamp. Many people bought War Bonds and Stamps to help the school reach its goal of $12,000. This pageant was directed by Miss Putnam and held in conjunction with the annual music and art exhibition.

THE SCRAP PAPER DRIVE

At the beginning of the school year, Charlton High School started its first paper drive. Our school, like many other schools all over the country, used the Paper Trooper Plan for the collection of paper. Each person in the class who brought in the most paper was awarded a "Certificate of Merit", and the school was awarded a "Certificate of Achievement." The money collected from this paper drive was given towards the Servicemen's Boxes. Most of the classes did a fine job. The seniors and the sophomores gave each other a great deal of competition, but finally, the seniors brought in the most paper.

Because the first paper drive was so successful, the school decided to have another drive. The seniors took the responsibility of collecting all the paper, but because of the bad weather and no transportation, they gave it to the school to sponsor. The school gladly accepted the seniors' offer. The juniors started immediately to collect all the paper they could. Then, the seniors and the sophomores started to give the juniors a great deal of competition. The seniors again came out on top and won the last paper drive. Each class will receive the money collected from the amount of paper that it brought in. The paper drives have been very successful, and gave every student who participated the feeling that he was helping in the War Effort.

TO EDITORS AND ADVISERS
OF HIGH SCHOOL PUBLICATIONS:

America's schools made a splendid record in the Sixth War Loan Drive. The following facts, brought out in a survey, show the importance of the part played by schools:

20,140,000 people heard about the drive from students.
11,130,000 people were asked by students to buy Bonds.
3, 180,000 of these people were approached in no other way.
1,595,000 people bought their extra Bonds AT SCHOOLS.

The Treasury Department is counting on the schools of America to do just as good a job, or perhaps an even better one, in the Seventh War Loan Drive. The following pages of the HIGH SCHOOL CLIPSHEET and also the April SCHOOLS AT WAR contain suggestions which will help your school paper to lead your school on to enthusiastic, whole-hearted support of the Seventh War Loan Drive. We suggest that you also utilize unused fillers, staff assignments and other materials included in previous CLIPSHEETS.

War Finance officials in Washington and in state offices across the nation are depending on schools to be an important force in putting the Seventh War Loan Drive over the top. Let's not fail them!

Sincerely yours,

"THE CAREER OF FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT"

"All we have to fear is fear itself." Many Americans were reassured by these words when their homes and liberty were in danger. These words were given by the late Franklin Roosevelt, who died as the Allies were swiftly moving to victory in Germany.

In the beginning of his career, he entered the White House just when the country was in the depths of a great depression. His bold and decisive actions brought confidence to his people. After the affairs of the country had been rectified sufficiently, he began a huge program of economic and social reforms. This program is still, in a large part, accepted by many of his strongest apponents.

During his second term, foreign affairs became the most prominent and the domestic affairs faded into the background. Roosevelt had always hoped that the United States would not become a belligerent nation, and he sent support of arms and money to the Allies instead of immediately sending men. The war, however, was predestined to come to our very shores, and when it did, the people stood united with Roosevelt. His leadership won the appraisal of all factions, and isolationism virtually disappeared from our government.

With his foresightedness, Roosevelt saw the Axis menace much earlier than many other Americans did. Never swayed by any person or party, he executed his final decision; there was no other answer except force. Under his leadership, the powers that saved the world from Axis domination were assembled.

Everyone should be grateful that this man was saved until his war duty was almost completed. The tragedy was that he could not see the final truimph of the Allied nations over the Axis aggresion, enslavement, and brutality.

No one knows what else was to have been achieved by Roosevelt, we all know, however, that he was determined to eliminate the errors that marred the administration of Woodrow Wilson. Roosevelt certainly had the support of his countrymen for the entrance of the United States into a "New" international agreement to secure world peace. We should always keep his goal in mind, to forget it, is certainly a poor tribute to the memory of this noble American.

The nations mourned the friend of democracy. His courage in overcoming his personal physical handicap is unparalleled. His energy was devoted to the execution of his duties; and his perseverence, and determination were equal to that of Lincoln's. He broke traditions that would have hindered the war effort. His reward was one that had never before been given to a man, four elections to the highest office in the land and the homage of all allied nations.

In this world drama, the great actor has left the stage. America will go on to victory, a victory toward which our former president had directed all his efforts.

THE SMALL TOWN

In the February 1945 issue of "House Beautiful" there was an article about the importance of a small town. I began to meditate on this subject, and I thought that everyone should realize this since we live in a small town.

Any small town or community; such as, Dodge, Charlton Depot, Charlton Center, or Charlton City appear insignificant on a map of the United States and appear not at all on a world map. Yet small towns such as these teach the principles of peace that the whole world wants: respect for one's neighbor and common effort for common good.

The city people are more worldly wise, for they are constantly with crowds on buses and subways, and they are able to see and hear great personalities.

These city "slickers" know nothing of their neighbors, yet they see them every day, pass by them, and nod. The only people that a city dweller actually knows are his relatives, whom he may not like and may never see, and the few friends whom he selects.

We people who live in a small town know all the other inhabitants, even though the person may be just a business associate. A city person is unconcerned with the town's foreigners; while the towns-people plan special excursions to visit the city. The city person knows people who think, act, and like in a fashion similar to his own. Here, in the fresh country air of the town, you aren't permitted any such narrow limitation of human association for you know bores, misers, and spendthrifts. You know gallant souls and loving hearts---the flighty, the faithful, and the false---and sometimes the circumstances which effected their resultant character. You know the thinkers and the fools---you tolerate all of them---you give and take alike as a good neighbor. You know themulous old people and remember when they were gayer and younger than they are now. You know, presumptious and impudent grade school children, who were the darling little babes their mothers strolled on the shady roads several years ago. You can't quite understand what has happened when the tomboys take a sudden interest in their studies and then more important world subjects!

The Lindley's home burned to the ground, do you remember how you and all of their and your neighbors helped them rebuild their home and gave them shelter until the new building was completed?

You will never forget your doctor who was ill in the hospital; his neighbors came to the hospital to bring flowers, food, and words of cheer every day. Then when he was able to get around in a wheel chair you never failed to wave and say a word or two to him when you passed by his home.

Those were pre-war days for the neighbors of this small town. Now the blackest thing on earth has affected the whole town. A telegram arrived: David Bowman, Seaman first class, U.S.N., son of Mrs. James Bowman, of this town, was killed on duty in the Pacific on May first. You could never forget how mischievous that fellow was at eleven years of age! Mrs. Bowman's grief was shared by her neighbors. Everyone hastens to her home to offer comforting words. Mrs. Bowman is stalwart, and determines to do her utmost for other mothers.

If you live in a small town, every day brings its joys and sorrows and you take it upon yourself to share your neighbor's joys and sorrows too. Your emotions overflow egotistical boundaries. For when you know everyone, you know many people you would not deliberately select as congenial companions.

You are on friendly terms because ordinary natural human circumstances have brought your lives into just a position.

All the great plans for peace are built upon the promise that someday nations will learn to live without war--not without argument or quarrels, perhaps, not without differences of temperament or without uniform backgrounds of culture, but as people live in a small town, taking it as a matter of course that everyone must respect the rights and privacies of the other, that each must contribute to the common welfare and security of all.

When you think of the small town as the realized symbol of this high dream of mankind, it doesn't seem so small. It seems about the biggest thing in the universe.

ERNIE PYLE-A TRIBUTE

Ernie Pyle, famous war correspondent, was killed by a Japanese machine gun on an island off Okinawa, in the Pacific. Previously, Pyle covered the war in North Africa, Sicily, Italy, Britain, and France.

Nobody knows just how many boys in our armed forces or how many of their families at home he has helped with his writings. But all Americans now understand how warm heartedly and how honestly he served his country. No man in this war has told so well the story of the American fighting man as he would like it told. He told the story of war in the G.I. language.

Ernie Pyle is also known for his book "Here is Your War", which tells of our boys during the North African campaign. This book is the letter your service man might be writing home to you. It might be the letter he doesn't write because he is too modest to repeat the heroic things he has seen and done. In this book, America's favorite war correspondent, with his warm, genuine friendliness has written down the events of this war as he sees it and feels it.

A LITTLE REMENISCING

Thinking back over a period of six years, I find the fondest memories. I entered the seventh grade of Charlton High School six years ago. I felt big and proud in my last year at Grammar School because I was with the older students, and, believe it or not, everyone accepted the fact that we were "The Sixth Graders". But in the seventh grade my first reaction to my new surroundings was the realization of how insignificant I really was. Our class was now the youngest class, and not the oldest. To the older students we acted young and foolish. But still the seventh grade was wonderful to me. I found I had more freedoms, different subjects, more and new teachers.

My second year of junior high was similar to the first, but my next big step was the time when I entered the freshmen class, the first year of high school---! I noticed immediately many privileges were granted me. I became excited with every Play Contest, I joined a Club, and I was asked to join the Glee Club ,a fact which afforded me a great pleasure.

Sophomore year was even more fun. My class won the magazine contest, and we took a trip to the movies. We were rivals with the Senior class that year, and one of our greatest triumphs was the time when our girls' class basketball squad defeated the Senior girls. Incidentally we won the last two class basketball games with the boys victories included.

Junior year was still a greater pleasure, and it seemed to me that school got better each year, though I never knew it possible. Prize speaking, basketball, plays, and assemblies kept me busy and interested. Surprisingly enough I found my studies extremely interesting too. Then at graduation the Senior class presented our class with the key to the Senior class.

It all seems such a short while ago that we entered the seventh grade, but it has been six years of fun and hard work. At the beginning of the Sr. year I thought it would be wonderful to see June come, but now as graduation draws near, and I think of the past six years, I rather wish it wouldn't creep up on me so quickly. The friends I've made, the studies I've completed, and the fun I've had can never be forgotten, and I know that long after I've left Charlton High, the memories will still be with me.

EXCHANGE EDITOR'S COMMENTS

I have received many publications of magazines from other schools. Each has something different to offer as an attraction.

From Northboro, Mass. comes the "Stylus" . It has an interesting "We Wonder" column anda very good editorial. It's editor-in-chief is Malcolm Bosse.

"The Uptonite" from Upton Mass. is making out quite well even though the school was destroyed by fire. Through the help of students themselves and Mr. Barclay's mimeograph, they have published a very good magazine with Franklin Kenand and June Bishop as the editors.

I have received from Millbury, Mass. "The Reflector"which is appropriate as the magazine always has a bright red cover. This publication is really super and the students who write have surprise endings for their stories. They seem to follow O . Henry's example.

I think we all profit by this exchange of ideas among various schools.

"THE WAR'S GREATEST SCANDAL"

Half a million Negroes are now bearing arms in the service of their country. In return for their patriotism, the Negroes of America have been "Jimcrowed" into segregated regiments and used largely as servants and laborers. Although there is a shortage of Army nurses, considerably fewer than two hundred Negro nurses have been accepted--for an Army Nurse is a commissioned officer, and the Army doesn't want too many Negroes with commissions. Registered pharmacists are in demand--that is, if their skin is white. At Pearl Harbor an outstanding hero, Dorie Miller, single handed worked a machine-gun against Jap planes until his hands and arms were blistered and scarred. Yet Dorie Miller, who got the highest medals for bravery in action, was only a messman, barred by regulation from rising to combat status, for Dorie Miller's skin was black. In the last war, the French were shocked and bewildered by the treatment of colored troops in the A.E.F. In this war, it is the turn of the British to be shocked. The Jimcrow policies, which American officers have tried to enforce among our troops in England have aroused the greatest indignation in Parliament. One sentimental store owner tacked up a sign at the entrance: for the use of the British and colored Americans only.

In Savannah, Georgia, on June 10,1942 Negro troops in the Army Day Parade were forced to march at the tail end, behind garbage trucks. In Beaumont, Texas on August 10, 1942 a Negro private C.J. Rico, was clubbed and shot by two city police men. No action was taken by Army authorities.

These things have happened in an Army supposed to be fighting for Democracy. Jimcrow in Uniform is an intolerable insult to the thirteen million colored citizens of this country. It violates the most basic principles of Democracy our leaders say we are fighting for. Every colored person in America, every real friend of Democracy in America must take up the fight and refuse to be satisfied with anything less than the smashing of racial barriers, throughout the entire country.

To Charlton High we say good bye,
With feelings of regret.
For all the things you've done for us,
Be sure we'll ne'er forget.

2.
With advice and many lessons,
You've helped us on our way
And with your strife and guidance
You've put us there to stay.

3.
You've led us to a greater life
One of Responsibility,
You've taught us through
Your work and strife
What it is to be free.

"Calling All Surgeons"

Tempy Seers (Temperance on her natal day) had moved to old decrepit Melessy Bragg's to lend the old woman a helpin' hand during her last years. Tempy, one of those hearty old gal's had made many trips to the altar, but had never kneeled there herself. She was a maid of four times sweet sixteen, whose summers had been kind to her, but, oh, those winters! All Tempy's free moments, when not engaged at the sick bed, were spent in idle gossip; a well known occupation of all old maids.

She had moved in Monday morning, and had followed her arrival by a vigorous attack with pail and mop to all houshold furnishings; stopping only long enough to feed the old lady. At the end of a long day's work, she wearily flopped down in her little cubby hole, off the kitchen, to knit some blue garters for a bride to wear. (You know "Somethin' borrowed, somethin' blue".) Tempy had made it possible for every bride in the village for the last twenty five years to fulfill the old adage.

While peacefully rocking and humming (way off tune) her musings were interrupted by a creak on the stairs.

"That you, Mis' M'Lissy? she asked. Somethin' yuh want before going to bed?"

No answer.

"Say, Mis M'Lissy, You shouldn't come downstairs by yourself. It's bad for your rheumatiz. You jist stay where yuh be, and I'll come help yuh."

Tempy rose from the chair and headed for the back stairs. The footsteps were getting nearer; she stopped; nobody there. "That's funny, and she headed for the front stairs. Nobody there either. She raced up the stairs as fast as her weary bones could take her, shouting for Melissy.

"What yuh shoutin' for, Tempy? she gasped.

"Why you're right here in bed all by yuhself," Tempy said.

"Of course I am, and yuh waked me up from my first sleep for weeks with yuh shoutin'. Go on down stairs 'bout your business and let honest folks sleep."

Tempy banged down the stairs wonderingly; pulled down the curtains, and locked her door just to be safe. This episode repeated itself, with sickening regularity for fully a week, and Tempy had begun to doubt whether her patient was as feeble as she was supposed to be.

Tempy went up to the old lady and told her that if she didn't explain how she could have rheumatiz and still get up and down stairs like a jack rabbit at night, then she, Tempy, would up and leave.

"When was I downstairs at night? Yuh know I can hardly move around."

"Yuh know, jist as well as I do, Melissy Bragg. Ever since I been here yuh been hopping up and down them stairs every night about half after nine".

"Oh that; that's jist old Ezra Snow looking for his big toe again."

"I ain't seen no Ezra Snow around here, and your 'teched' if yuh did".

"Course, yuh didn't see him; he's been dead fifty years, but yuh've got ears haven't cha?"

"I heard the stairs creak, if that's what yuh mean."

"Aman's got a right to look for what belongs to him."

"Now listen here, Melissy Bragg, yuh stop right where yuh are, and tell me the truth."

"I am telling the truth. Ezra Snow was my great grandfather on my mother's side, and he was known for his handsome ways , and his liking for a well-turned pair of boots. Just about killed him, when his big toe started festering and the doc said he'd have to "ampitate." He said no; he wasn't going to go around like a sick chicken the rest of his life. Finally, the pain became so great that doc or no doc he was going to cut it off. So he fortified himself with a snort of Jamaica Rum and got out the old ax; went around the barn to the choppin' block, and cut it off. For sentiment's sake he "presarved" it in the pork barrel, and he lived to a ripe old age too. But just guess he "figgers" he can't walk the Pearly Streets without a whole foot."

"The Hard Way"

In one of my frequent visits to the New York Police Department I came across this letter; To whom it may concern:

This letter will serve as an explanation for my death, without which, I daresay the police would have a hard time to solve the mystery. I have taken a large amount of prussic acid, and I expect to live long enough to write this letter. I am not a coward and I do not, for a moment , doubt that better men than I would commit suicide under the same circumstances. Here is my story:

I was born in the slums of New York, forty years ago. My father was a lazy , pugnacious man, who surely did not provide for his family of ten to the best of his ability. When I was nine years old, he died from over indulgence of alcohol, and my mother was left with the burden of bringing up the children. For six years, she worked over twelve hours a day to give us food. I had left school long ago, but no one would hire me because I was either too young or did not have enough experience. One day I met a man whom I shall call Joe. Joe asked me if I wanted a job, and, of course, I said that I did. Then, he told me that he would give me ten dollars for every car I would take to him at a certain address. I saw his purpose immediately; he wanted me to steal automobiles. My mother had taught me never to steal, and I was about to turn down Joe's offer when I thought of my mother, and my brothers and sisters half sick from malnutrition. We needed ten dollars badly, so I accepted Joe's offer. That night, I was walking down 35th Street when I saw a good automobile. I stepped into the driver's seat and started the motor. I was sick from fear of being caught. It was not until I was driving away, that the owner saw me, but by then it was too late. I drove the car to the address Joe had given me, and collected my ten dollars. That night our family had good wholesome food for the first time in years. All rejoiced over the fact that I had a job. I did not dare tell them what I was really doing. The next night I stole another automobile; and in fact, I stole until the family had grown up and was able to provide for themselves. Then, because I loathed stealing, I gave it up and went to find myself an honest job. Joe told me I could come back and work for him any time, but I thanked him and said, "No." I soon found a job in a small town in Massachusetts. It was at the factory where I worked that I met Agnes Mun. She and I fell in love with each other immediately, and in six months we were married. I had built a little house out in the country isolated from the town. Here we lived happily for five years. Agnes had given up her job, and we were able to live on what I earned alone. I was happy for the first time in my life. Then, the depression came, and I, along with millions of others was thrown out of work. Desperately I tried to find work, but employers did not want a man who had never gone to high school. We lived for a few months on what I had been able to save, but gradually I had to start selling unnecessary things, including our car. Finally, I was forced to mortgage our home and all our remaining possessions, but the money I received went all too soon. About this time, my wife came down with a severe cold, which the doctor said could develop into pneumonia. He gave me instructions to call him immediately if her temperature began to rise. One day, as I was walking down a street in town, I thought of the offer Joe had made to me years ago. I went to a telephone and called him up. He seemed glad to hear from me and assured me that his offer still went. I thanked him and hung up. It would be only until I could get an honest job, I thought. I walked out of the phone booth and down the street to the nearest parked car. I got in it and drove it away to Joe's garage in the city. I took a bus back to town, and by the time I had reached home it was very late. I went immediately to see my wife and saw at once that she was seriously ill. In fact, I knew that she was dying of pneumonia and needed a doctor instantly. I rushed to the phone and called the doctor's house. He lived way in the country as we did. He said that he would be glad to come, but someone had stolen his car that afternoon, and that the only way he got home was with the mailman. Suddenly I was paralyzed. I realized with sickening fear that the car I had stolen had been parked in front of the doctor's office. There was no other possible way for the doctor to get to my house except by walking, and we lived ten miles apart. Dumbfounded, I went back to my wife to try to comfort her. I knew there was no hope. As she lay there dying, I could not help thinking that I had killed her. She died early in the morning and I had a quiet funeral. The bank foreclosed on the mortgage, and I was left with nothing but a few dollars. I took a train to New York City, hoping to start over again. However, I find I cannot go on anymore, so I have taken my own life.

Yours truly,
Roger St. James

"Graduation"

The hall is quiet; the people are still-
When all of a sudden you hear the march
Song trill. The graduates are marching
In their caps and gowns, and all over
The hall is a wonderful sound.

They now are seated in a row;
The music is ceasing; the audience
Is waiting for each speaker's piece.
A graduate stands in front of them all;
Says her speech to the great filled hall.
She ends her speech, and then sits down;
And another speaks in his cap and gown.

As they march out in single file,
Everyone gazes at them down the aisle
The great night is over for them all
They have all left the graduation hall.

"The Beginning-Not the End"

To graduate means very much
To those who have worked through the years.
Many have laughed, and played, and such;
Some may have even shed tears.

But do you think they want to leave
The place where they've studied and dreamed;
The place where marks have been received
To make some shudder, and to make some beam?

I know they'll not like to say goodbye
To all their teachers and friends;
To bid "farewell" to Charlton High-
Although it's the beginning, and not the end.

"The Bells"

The quiet town, the ghost town, lay quietly sleeping. This war-torn town, which had never known peace, now, was trying to decieve the eye. The ruined buildings, and the large amount of crosses in the little cemetery could not really deceive anybody.

Suddenly, from the only two churches in the village, lights could be seen. Then, the large bells began to toll jubilees. What was it?

Little Hans heard the bells first, because his mother, the poor woman, had not slept the past few days. And so, she was sleeping now soundly. Could it be that the Germans were coming back? Oh, No! They couldn't come! He must wake his mother no matter what!

"Mother! Mother! Please wake up!" he cried with childish fervor.

"Why, Hans what is wrong? Oh, the bells! Oh, thank God! Hans, my darling, the bells! Peace has come! Hans, the bells!"

She really was hysterical, this poor mother of Europe, who had prayed night and day that her son wouldn't have to live any longer in this earthly chaos of destruction.

"Mother, are you sure this is peace? Are you, mother? Is peace, Mother, where we can have our house again, plenty to eat, and daddy come home? Is that peace, mother? Is it?" Hans demanded of his mother.

"Yes, my child, that is peace! Thank God, that is peace!" His mother said with deep fervor. "There is a poem about bells, Hans, I remember. It's very beautiful-it tells about bells and peace, here it is:

"Ring out old shapes of foul disease;
Ring out the narrowing lust of gold;
Ring out the thousand wars of old,
Ring in the thousand years of peace.

Ring in the valiant man and free
The larger heart, the kindlier hand;
Ring out the darkness of the land,
Ring in the Christ that is to be."

"Let Us Admit It"
(With apologies to Kipling)

Let us admit it fairly as high school Seniors should
We've had no end of lessons and they've done us no end of good.
We entered as timid Freshmen, we leave as graduates bold,
And we find it hard to realize the knowledge our young heads hold.

We're crammed to the brin with learning, and now we must turn it to use, and if one of us is a failure, he hasn't a single excuse.
The more we work and the less we talk, the better results we shall get, for we've had four years of training, it maymake us successes yet.

Let us admit it fairly as high school Seniors should:
We're proud of Charlton High School; it's done us a lot of good.

Seventh Grade Report

We started our first year in Junior High School with Mrs. Horton, as our teacher, but unfortunately she left because of illness. Her place was taken by Miss Callanan and a short time ago Miss Callanan's place was taken by Miss Fell.

There were forty-four pupils in the class, twenty-two boys and twenty-two girls, but unfortunately Frederick Hoyle has left us, now leaving forty-three.

The class officers elected are as follows: president, Edith Pontbriand; vice-president, Dorothy Robidoux; secretary, Ronald Forkey; and treasurer, Edward Stearns.

Our Honor Roll students so far are Beryl Foskett, Richard Mushroe, Edith Pontbriand, Dorothy Robidoux, Ronald Forkey, Herbert Brown, Phyllis Gendron, and Alice Racine.

Although the Curtis Magazine contest was not won by a member of our class, Robert Dugas brought in over forty dollars.

At the annual play contest, we presented "Get Along Little Cowboy". The following persons took part: Richard Mushroe, Edward Stearns, Daniel Peters, Dan Cummings, Ronald Forkey, Frederick Hoyle, and George Cody.

One of our pupils, Roger Garrepy, was out for a month with appendicitis. Miss Callanan gave him a party on his return.

Respectfully submitted,
Ronald Forkey

Eighth Grade Report

The eighth grade started out with twenty-three girls, and twenty boys, making a total of forty-three pupils. We were very unfortunate in losing four girls, and two boys. Just recently we lost Estelle Cardin. We now have only nineteen girls and eighteen boys.

The class officers for this year are: president, Barbara Moffatt; vice-president, James Ashworth; treasurer, Dorothy Cook; secretary, Sally Mann.

The eighth grade, together with the rest of the classes, is still trying to get the minute flag back on the flag pole.

Those pupils in the play contest, at the beginning of the year, were: James Ashworth, Charles Foskett, Patricia Poulin, Sally Mann, Ralph Phillips, and Barbara Moffatt. The name of the play selected was "Bargains in Haircuts". Although we did not win, we thank Mrs. Madaus for her supervision as we had a very good play.

Eight girls from our room went out for basket-ball this year. They are as follows: Dorothy Cook, Jeannette Gaucher, Anita Iannichori, Leona Hilton, Joan Lunn, Sally Mann, Barbara Moffatt, and Evelyn Murkland. Leona Hilton, Evelyn Murkland, and Sally Mann were able to play in one out of town game, and one home game, on the second team.

One boy from our room went out for baseball, Charles Foskett.

This year the eighth grade has done very well in the two paper drives. Approximately 982 pounds of paper, and 376 pounds of magazines were brought in during this last drive. This drive is not a contest. Each room receives a certain amount of money for the amount of paper it brings in.

Respectfully submitted,
Sally Mann, secretary

Freshman Highlights

This year we elected class officers as follows: President, Dorothy Mann; Vice-president, Esther Mahan; Secretary, Phyllis Watson; and Treasurer, Barbara Flaherty.

The first important event of the year was the presentation of our annual class play, "A New Deal For Mary". The cast included Margaret Farr, Dorothy Mann, David Lackstrom, Richard Smith, Maurice Shea, Phyllis Watson, Ernest Scott, Phyllis Wolfendon, Burton Grant, and Adelle Caplette. The money received from the play was put into our treasury.

Although we worked hard during the paper drives, we didn't win any prizes. Those who have been on the Honor Roll so far this year are Esther Mahan, Robert Lafler, Phyllis Watson, Margaret Farr, Barbara Flaherty, and David Lackstrom.

In December, we were happy to welcome a new classmate, Ruth Mitchell.

Respectfully submitted,
Phyllis Watson, Secretary

Sophomore Report

We started this year with twenty pupils and with Mrs. Fiske as our teacher. The number of students remaining in the sophomore class now is sixteen. We were all sorry to lose one of our honor students, Ruby Clark and the others who have left; namely, Agnes Blanchard, Janice Wright, and Hazel Johnson. We're all keeping our fingers crossed and hope we don't lose anymore students until graduation day 1947.

Our class still holds a 100 per cent sale of war stamps and bonds. Because our class won the "War Bond Drive" in December, we decided on a "truth or consequence" program, which was held during an assembly.

In the annual play contest, we presented "Merry Molly Malone", and the following students participated, Evelyn Robidoux, Nancy Ashworth, Arthur Dodge, Norman Oliver, Raymond Ashe, Ruth McKinstry, and Agnes Blanchard.

On May 4, the Sophomore Dance was held in the Grange Hall. Those on the Committee were; Arthur Dodge, Evelyn Robidoux, Raymond Ashe, Colleen Tower, Nancy Ashworth, Marie Fitzgerald, Ingrid Hammond, Yolande Arsenault, and Linda Kuroiwa. The Rhythm Kings provided the music.

The Sophomores won the Annual Magazine Contest and took a trip to Boston to see the Ice Follies.

Respectfully submitted,
Linda Kuroiwa

Junior Class Report

We started the year with twenty-three members, with Mrs. Hammond as our home room teacher.

Our class officers are as follows; president, Reed Grimwade; vice president, Emerson Smith; secretary, Nancy Woods; and treasurer, Evna Cook.

Our play for the play contest was entitled "Who Killed Anne Gage?" The play cast included: Jeanne Farr, Audrey Cummings, Reed Grimwade, Nancy Woods, Evna Cook, Emerson Smith, Robert Bullard, William Watson, and Willard McCracken. We won the contest and received the cup and $17.57. We put our play on a second time at Dodge Chapel.

We are proud of Emerson Smith, the only person in the high school to win a prize in the Tri-Community Essay Contest.

In the magazine contest, we did very well, even if we didn't win. One of our members Nancy Woods, won second prize in the contest. This was one-half of her expenses to the Ice Follies of 1945 at Boston Gardens.

In April the school collected paper, and we collected over 2,108 pounds.

Respectfully submitted,
Nancy Woods, Secretary

Senior Finals!

The Senior Class started this year with an enrollment of twenty members. Vivian Dodge joined our class in November, so now we have twenty-one members. We are proud to state that two members of our class, Richard Taylor and Buell Phillips, answered the call to colors by joining the Coast Guard in April of this year.

The officers for this year were: president, Barbara Warren; vice-president, Mary Ashworth; secretary, Dorothy Tite; and treasurer, Doris Cody.

In the regular annual play contest we produced, "The Tiger's Claw." Although we didn't win, we gave a good performance. The members of the cast were: Richard Taylor, Ruth Brown, Barbara Warren, Anne Grimwade, Mary Ashworth, George Brown, Ralph Eastman, and Muriel Robidoux.

The Senior boys participating in basketball were: Richard Taylor, Torsten Blomberg, George Brown, and Ralph Eastman. The Senior girls were: Barbara Warren, Theresa Courcy, Anne Grimwade, Muriel Robidoux, and Ruth Brown. and Nancy Ferguson.

The Seniors presented the annual class play entitled "Lavender and Old Lace." This play was very successful. The members of the play cast were: Mary Ashworth, Muriel Robidoux, Anne Grimwade, Nancy Ferguson, Evelyn Shea, Ruth Brown, Ralph Eastman, Richard Morrison, and George Brown.

The Senior Commencement Committee was made up of the following people: Barbara Warren, Mary Ashworth, Dorothy Tite, Doris Cody, and George Brown.

The Seniors chosen to be graduation speakers were: Richard Taylor, Ruth Brown, Mary Ashworth, Anne Grimwade, and Dorothy Tite.

The people on the orchestra Committee for the Senior Reception were: Muriel Robidoux, chairman; Theresa Courcy, George Brown, and Mildred Mahan.

The people on the Honor Roll were Mary Ashworth, Anne Grimwade, Ruth Brown, Nancy Ferguson, Mildred Mahan, Doris Cody, Barbara Warren, and Muriel Robidoux.

Respectfully submitted,
Dorothy Tite,
Secretary

FUNDAMENTALS
ELECTRICITY CLUB

We completed the first year of this club, under the supervision of Mr. Mushroe.

We started the year with five members. During the year, we lost one, Richard Taylor, who left to join the armed forces.

By the end of the year we will have completed this course which was administered by the army.

The text includes magnetism, all kinds of electricity, electromagnets, transformers, and telephone.

Respectively submitted,
George Brown,
Secretary

RADIO CODE CLUB

We have finished a very interesting course in receiving radio code.

We were very sorry to lose two of our senior members to the Coast Guard, Buell Phillips, and Richard Taylor.

The course started with the elementary letters and numbers and then in groups of two, three, and others including words and sentences.

All students in this club course now have a better knowledge of receiving radio code.

Respectively submitted,
Willard McCracken,
Secretary

AUTOMOTIVE MECHANICS CLUB

We had twenty-two members in our club, whose officers were as follows: President, David Norcross; Vice-President, Arthur Dodge; Secretary, Robert Butler; Treasurer, Ernest Hill.

This club was started only this year for the purpose of having a pre-induction course for the operation of an automobile.

Mr. Berube is our instructor and he uses two text books; namely, Automotive Mechanics books One and Two, from which he has taught us the Fundamental of an Automobile.

Respectively submitted,
Robert Butler,
Secretary

THE TOY CLUB

We are proud to present the following achievements this club has made during the year-- a large number of stuffed dolls and animals, nut cups, tray covers, wash cloths, 500 cards for convalescing soldiers, assortments of place cards, boxes for war torn children, and aid for the Senior Red Cross in the making of utility bags and skirts.

This club has been conducted under the capablelead - ership of Mrs. Harris and Miss Volante. After Miss Volante's departure, we were fortunate to have Mrs. Peterson as Co-Leader. Her interest and enthusiasm has contributed much to the success of this club.

The officers of this club are: President, Evelyn Shea; Vice-President, Jessie Sinclair;

Secretary, Dorothy Tite: and Treasurer, Betty Sullivan.

Respectfully submitted,
Dorothy Tite
Secretary

PRE-DRIVER'S CLUB

The members of the Pre-Driver's Club, have devoted their time to studying the instruction book, "Man and the Motor Car" and, in learning the required seventy-five questions from the Question and Answer Booklet. Each member must know a certain percentage of the questions asked in the state test, that we are to have, in order to receive a certificate. By owning such a certificate, the asking of questions by the inspector when applying for a license, will be eliminated.

The club consists of fifteen members, the officers of which are as follows: President, Dorothy Barnes; Vice-President, Nancy Woods; Secretary, Mildred Mahan; Treasurer, Joanne Farr.

Respectfully submitted,
Mildred Mahan
Secretary

RED CROSS KNITTING CLUB

The Red Cross Knitting Club, under the Supervision of Mrs. Fiske, was made up of eleven members.

The officers for the entire year were: President, Anne Grimwade; Vice-President, Muriel Robidoux; Secretary, Barbara Warren; Treasurer, Mary Ashworth.

During the year, we have knitted squares for an aphgan for use in a hospital and packed boxes for American Red Cross.

Respectfully submitted,
Barbara Warren, Secretary

STUDENT COUNCIL REPORT

The Student Council composed of nineteen members this year, has completed many successful undertakings.

The officers for the year 1944-1945 are as follows: President, Ruth Brown; Vice-President, Barbara Warren; Secretary, Anne Grimwade; Treasurer, Mildred Mahan.

The Student Council sponsored a Paper Salvage Campaign in Sept. and the returns were donated to the fund for the Service Men's Christmas Boxes.

We had a successful Magazine Contest, which was sponsored again by the Curtis Publishing Co. Although we didn't make our quota, we still feel the contest was a success.

The Council purchased new warm up suits for the boys' basketball squad, and we feel it was a very satisfactory purchase.

Later in the year this group sponsored another Paper Campaign, and each class kept the money that they won.

The Council voted this season to buy a new chest protector for the baseball equipment, and also to have Chenille Athletic Letters instead of the usual felt. Although the Chenille letters are more expensive, we feel that the boys' very successful Athletic year deserves a special reward.

Because of bad weather conditions during the winter, the Council was unable to meet every Wednesday, but the times we did meet, we accomplished a great deal of business.

Respectfully submitted,
Anne Grimwade, Secretary

ORCHESTRA REPORT

The orchestra started the 1944-1945 year with Miss Putnam as its supervisor, This group consisted of many students at the beginning of the year, but at the end of the year the number had decreased.

The orchestra rendered selections at the two annual play contests at the Senior Play, and at graduation. The orchestra has played in many assemblies at our school. In all, it has participated a great many times.

The members include Arthur Dodge; drums, Willard McCracken; cornet, Shirley Coldinger; cornet, Mildred Mahan; accordion, Ruth Brown; pianist, Leona Hilton; clarinet, Agnes Prunier; violin, Louise Gendron; violin, and Richard Smith; saxophone.

Miss Putnam has worked very diligently with the orchestra, and has had a successful year.

Respectfully submitted,
Ruth Brown, Secretary

GIRLS' VOICE CLASS REPORT

On April 6th, a selected group of girls from the Voice Classes sang at the Senior Class Play. The songs selected were appropriate to the period of the play.

On April 13th under the leadership of Miss Putnam, these girls sang two songs and played taps at the memorial service for President Roosevelt.

On May 18th they sang at the Exibition and at the Patriotic program presented in connection with the Seventh War Loan Drive.

The girls once again sang at the annual Memorial Day Assembly and Memorial Day Exercises at the cemeteries.

This year at the graduation exercises a selected group of girls sang a song entitled, "Roses of the Southland." This was done because of the small number of boys that are now enrolled in the school.

Respectfully submitted,
Anne Grimwade,
Co-editor-in-chief.

GLEE CLUB REPORT

The Glee Club has completed another successful year under the supervision of Miss Putnam. We lost two officers of the club: President, Richard Taylor, and Treasurer, Buell Phillips, who joined the United States Coast Guard.

We sang at the Exhibition and Patriotic Program which was held in connection with the Seventh War Loan Drive.

The Glee Club also participated in the Graduation Exercises on June 14, 1945.

Respectfully submitted,
George Brown, Secretary

Boys' Basketball

We started the season very well, winning our first game with North Brookfield, 25 to 27. Our next game was won from Oxford, the score being 34 to 26 with our casualty, namely "Bunky" Hill. He fractured his knee, and wasn't allowed to play for the next few games. In a hard game, the boys won in an overtime with West Boylston, 38 to 36. This season seeming to be a good one, they won over Brookfield 30 to 19. They really got hot on the first game with Rutland, the score being, 58 to 11. The second game with Rutland we won, 30 to 23. After another fast game, with Oxford, we won, 34 to 29. This next game with West Boylston proved that West Boylston wasn't to be defeated by us again. They won just as the bell rang; 39 to 41.

This next game with North Brookfield was again a loser, as we lost 37 to 35. The last game with Brookfield was won, 52 to 24, as Charlton was the victor.

At the Tournament, we took our first game by a high score, but we were defeated by Northboro in the semi-finals.

Points scored by each player for entire year:

Taylor	131
Grimwade	83
Brown	63
Hill	23
Blomberg	43
Phillips	31

Total score, not including Tournament.

The Baseball Line-up is as follows:

Catcher--Dodge
Pitcher--Brown
1st. Base--Grimwade
2nd. Base--Norcross
3rd. Base--Maynard

Short Stop--Kestigan
Right Field--Foskett
Left Field--Eastman
Center Field--Morrison

Respectfully submitted,
Robert Bullard

GIRLS' BASKETBALL REPORT

The girls didn't show much enthusiasm for basketball this year, as there were only eighteen girls who went out for it. They are as follows: Seniors, Nancy Ferguson, Barbara Warren, Theresa Courcy, Anne Grimwade, and Ruth Brown; Juniors, Evna Cook, and Louise Gendron; Sophomores, Linda Kuroiwa, Nancy Ashworth, Marie Fitzgerald, and Evelyn Robidoux; Freshmen, Eunice Snow; Eighth Grade, Evelyn Murkland, Sally Mann, Barbara Moffatt, Dorothy Cook, and Leona Hilton; Seventh Grade, Phyllis Gendron.

Our first game was with Oxford, and the high scorer was Ruth Brown. The score of the game, which we were not proud of, was 37-10, in Oxford's favor.

The second game was with Southbridge. The high scorer in this game was Evelyn Robidoux. This was another very low score for us, and we walked away in low spirits with a score of 29-15, in favor of Mary Wells High School.

The third game was with Spencer at Charlton. The high scorers were Nancy Ferguson and Ruth Brown, and the score was 30-20 and of course in favor of the Spencer team.

The second team played their first game of the season with Spencer, and the first team bowed to them because they won the first game for Charlton's girls' basketball team. The score was 16-15.

The next game we played was at Spencer, and the score for the first team was far from tie. Our high scorer was Evelyn Robidoux.

The second team's score was far better than the first team's and the high scorer for them was Leona Hilton. The score was 18-10 in favor of Spencer.

The last game we played at Mary Wells High School in Southbridge. The high scorer for the first team was Evelyn Robidoux. Again we were left far behind in the score.

This ended our basketball season, and we were sorry that we didn't win more games and hope in the future years the girls of Charlton High are luckier at winning games than the girls were this year.

The line-up was:

First Team

Forwards	Guards
Ruth Brown	Anne Grimwade
Nancy Ferguson	Louise Gendron
Evelyn Robidoux	Barbara Warren

Second Team

Forwards	Guards
Evna Cook	Theresa Courcy
Leona Hilton	Evelyn Murkland
